a contract with Mr. Scrauton to propagate the plant for the purpose of introducing it to the public. J. P. Whirring & Co. now have a large clantation of thrifty plants which are offered to the public for the first time, with full confidence that they will be found all that is required in a good strawberry, either for the home garden, the market garden, or the more extensive plantation. ITS HARDINESS.

The plant came from the mountain range in the State of Vera Cruz. Mexico, in the immediate vicinity of Jalaps, which is some five thousand feet above the level of the sea, and a few miles west and north from the LIBERAL DISCOUNT TO DEALERS. City of Very Cruz. Many of the mountains in this region are perpetually covered with anow. This will account for the extreme hardiness of the plant, and shows why it has succeeded so well in this Northern State It does not winter-kill, being entirely unlike most, if not all familiar varieties of the strawberry; while the Mexican shows green and thrifty fruit stalks and leaves when the snow goes off in the Spring, the others show scarcely any signs of life.

respect it is nearly as free as the raspberry. A CONTINUOUS BEARER.

It does not bear fruit periodically, or monthly, but continuously. Ripe berries have been picked as early as the twenty-eighth day of May, and continuously from that time until the eighth of November. It would be regarded as very productive if it yielded but one crop (like other plants) during the season; but in bearing continuously, it has decided advantages over all other known varieties. Soil seems to make but little difference with the plant. It has been successfully cultivated on sandy land, on gravelly loam, and on nearly pure clay land; the better the soil the more thrifty the plant, and the more abundant and better the fruit.

It may be transplanted at any season with satisfactory results. When a bed is once set, there is no need of disturbing it for years.—The stools are constantly enlarging and The stools are constantly enlarging and will cover the ground completely, without interfering with the productiveness of the plant.

Origin, History & Character.

Was brought in a hand satchel from Jalapa. House Furnishing Goods one of the plants survived the journey. From this one plant the present extensive planta-tion of Mesars J. P. Whiting & Co., has been propagated. Four years ago Mr. Fenelon Scranton, of Dundee, Monroe County, Michigan, had a patch about two rods square, when Mr. S. B. French (who is a practical nurseryman) first saw them, and immediately made a contract with Mr. Scrauton to propagate the

The single plant, or crown, forms a stool, The single plant, or crown, forms a stool, similar to the gardie, the potato enion, and plants of that nature. While the parent crown is flowering and bearing fruit, new crowns are being formed, sending forth new fruit stalks, which, in their turn, blossom and bear fruit. These stools or crowns often cover a surface of from twelve to fifteen inches

THE FRUIT. The plant is bi-sexual, very perfect in its blossoms, and each blossom perfects a berry. The size of the fruit is rather above the av-The size of the fruit is rather above the average, being neither small, nor yet a mammoth. The fruit stalks stand creet, are of a good length, and staunch enough to support its burden of fruit without permitting it to droop into the dirt. The flavor is rich and aromatic in a remarkable degree. The superior excellence of this variety was first discovered to Mr. French by the grateful fragrance of the fruit. The flesh is solid, melting but firm, and as a berry for transportation it has no superior. Its form is an irregular conical; its color a bright scarlet; the calix parts readily from the fruit; in this respect it is nearly as free as the raspberry.
